THE WRITERS

Entry Way Marketing & Publishing is a company that has spent the last eleven years specializing in helping authors find the ability to become fully self-supporting through the writing media of their choice. Our specialty is that each project we have worked on has had a life of its own, an author of its own, and a success of its own. Each has been a miracle in itself by the time it was published and placed where the public can purchase it, and purchase it, they have!

Genres have included: non-fiction, fiction, poetry, children's short stories, children's products, and crime/adventure. We have authors who have appeared on HBO and authors who prefer to write for magazines. Many of our writers have published more than one book through our services.

We seek partnerships where the written word is the real winner.
